

coalescence

Process in which two phase domains of essentially identical composition in contact with one another form a larger phase domain.

Notes:

1. Coalescence reduces the total interfacial area.
2. The flocculation of a polymer colloid, through the formation of aggregates, may be followed by coalescence.

2004, 76, 2000

N.B. This supersedes an earlier definition.